At His Old Home.

J.S. Perrin, Esq., formerly editor of the Ab beville Messenger, and a member of the Mississippi bar, looked in on us for a minute last Monday. He is looking well, and he will meet a hearty welcome from old friends. He says that the town has changed much in the last three years—all the shop building and the new part of town having been put no since he was here.

Mr. W. T. Chandler, of Atlanta, was in our city last week looking after the interests of Washington Seminary. This institution is located in Atlanta and has for its object, the education of women. It has an able faculty and a splendid line of patronage. Among the pupils we find the names of an Abbeville young lady, Miss Louise McIntosh, of whom Mr. Chandler spoke in complimentary terms. Mr. Chandler himself is a courteous and affable gentleman, and makes friends wherever gentleman, and makes friends wherever

Died, at 3 o'clock last Sunday afternoon, Miss Leila Swearingen, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Swearingen, of this city. The deceased was a most estimable young lady, just blooming into womanhood, possessing a gentle and unselfish disposition, always wearing a bright, sunny smile, with a kind and and cheerful word for all. She was a member of the Methodist church and Sunday School of this place, and was always punctual in her lace and faithful in the discharge of her Christian duties. By her gentle manner and lovely disposition she won many friends who sorrow over her sad and unexpected death. Surely one possessed of such noble Christian virtues will have her reward in that city of many mansions, prepared for all who are faithful unto the end. The funeral services were conducted at home by her pastor, Rev. J. A. Clifton, in the presence of a large and sympathizing company of friends who as sembled to pay their last tribute of love and affection to the memory of her whom they all loved so dearly. that the ladies of this society have now about Inha of the Long case Centerly Society that the ladies of this society have now about eighty members and a compilmentary cash account in the bank. They are making arrangements to purchase an additional tract of land adjoining the present cemetery, which they will lay into off sections, or platts, all of which will be inclosed with the original cemetery. Upon this land they intend building a cottage for a "keeper" of the cemetery whose services they have already engaged. This society purposes to have this new land or addition to the present cemetery incorporated and desire to impress upon the public the fact that the arrangements of this society are not for one year but for many years, at the expiration of which time they expect to have accumulated a nice sum, which, properly invested, will enable them to be self-sustaining. This is a great and noble work and all who have loved ones and friends resting in this silent city of our state of the propers. es and friends resting in this silent city of the dead should gladly embrace the privilege of becoming a member. The society is great-ly encouraged by donations from persons in various sections of the state who wish their various sections of the state who wish their names added to the membership and who not only have already made donations but will ever and always be ready to pay their annual dues. Reader, havn't you some loved one, or even friend, whose grave you wish kept green? If so, why don't you hand in your 50 cents, with your name and do your duty, by converting this waste wilderness, into a beautiful garden, a fit resting-place for our loved ones, who sleep in the quiet city of the dead.

Abbeville, S. C., July 13, 1896. I wish to say to my old customers that from this on I will be engaged in the building material business. I will keep on hand at the Abbeville Inn a stock of Sash, Doors, Blinds, &c. I have secured the sale for this section for the Dowell Pin Door, which is the greatest improvement in door making of the age, combining both strength and beauty, doing away with ugly pins and tenons. I guarantee every point perfect and will not open. When in need of any building material of any kind, come and see me and get my prices. B. K. BEACHAM.
